folgenden folgen.1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a refrigerator, and more particularly, to a refrigerator which is adapted to decrease the amount of time required to cool air supplied into each storage compartment. 2.
Description of the Related Art In general, a refrigerator is an apparatus for keeping food and drink fresh in a refrigerator compartment. The refrigerator is an apparatus which keeps freshness of food for a longer period of time by performing cooling using a refrigerating cycle, in which a refrigerant is compressed, condensed and expanded, and then the cool air of low temperature and low pressure is blown to the refrigerator compartment, in order to keep the inside of the refrigerator compartment in a cold atmosphere. The refrigerator comprises a refrigerator compartment and a freezing compartment, and the refrigerating cycle is operated in the refrigerator compartment. In a refrigerator having two storage compartments, the refrigerating cycle is used in a different manner depending on the storage compartment. The refrigerating cycle is used in the freezing compartment in a manner of supplying the cool air of low temperature and low pressure to the freezing compartment, and for a refrigerator having three storage compartments or four storage compartments, the refrigerating cycle is used in a manner of supplying the cool air of low temperature and low pressure to the freezing compartment and the refrigerating compartment, which are positioned adjacent to the freezing compartment.
That is, by using the refrigerating cycle, the cool air supplied
